Halloween Festivities

The largest parade ever was held in Mattapoisett last Thursday night in observance of Halloween. The parade was led by the Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Fairhaven American Legion.

The marchers were served refreshments in the Center School cafeteria at the conclusion of the parade. Sponsor of the event was the Mattapoisett Police Department. A dance for the teen-agers was held at the Congregational Church parish hall.

Among the prize winners for the best costumes were Gary Fountain, Cindy Fisher,

Gibbons Attacks Welfare Abuses

SPEECH ON WELFARE BY ASSESSOR

The following is a speech given by John Gibbons, president of the Plymouth County Assessors' Association, at a meeting of the association on Friday night at Eugene's in Middleboro.

"In opening I would like a few words on welfare as this has became a serious problem, primarily welfare abuses. Since the State has taken over welfare it has become more liberal with a serious effect on local tax rates as the money to support this program is coming from our local aid fund.

"If this program continues in its present form the local aid fund will be a thing of the past and the State will be leaving us with high standards to support on our own. It is apparent that the assessors will be the ones abused for the high tax rates.

"Many low income working families have been particularly upset about the guidelines, feeling that they are paying taxes to give other families what they themselves cannot afford.

"Many working men earn less than a welfare mother whereas a man's salary remains constant regardless of how many children he has, while a welfare recipient's income goes up with the number of children and also increases as they grow older.

"A welfare mother with 8 children receives $144.00 a week tax free as compared to a working barber with a taxable salary of $100.00 a week.

"It is also noted that many men with small children and marginal incomes have left their families so that their children can receive welfare help.

"With welfare costs in the State jumping from 202 million to 358 million in the last 3 years and 450,000 persons expected to be on medicare in 3 years I believe the costs are skyrocketing beyond the ability of the State to meet them.

system and a real tightening up of the way it's going, 20% of the State's population will be on some sort of public assistance and before long the system will crumble under its own weight."

Grin and Bear It

Editorial

If anyone harbored any lingering illusion that a remnant of control remained in the hands of the public over the Regional School system, that supposition was dispelled on Wednesday evening at Old Hammondtown auditorium. Two hundred people were there from the three towns to hear the school committee explain the coming crisis in the school population at Old Rochester.

Two proposals were put forth; one for the overlapping sessions and the alternative of erecting 7 portable buildings to house the 7th grade for 3 years. After the presentation, a question period was held. The question was put, "Suppose all three towns don't go along with the portable building plan? Suppose one of the region's 3 towns should turn it down?" The answer was that the cost would be placed in the Regional School budget and in that case there is "not a whole lot anyone in the 3 towns could do about it when presented with a bill from the high school". Dr. Joseph Kunces said that a town which refused to go along would be sued for the entire cost plus a 25% penalty.

We have seen, in the past few years, almost all control usurped by the State in exchange for reimbursements on school building construction until, finally, we were left with one option. The town's final option was to vote for, pare down or turn down new school buildings. Now, even that, apparently, is to be circumvented. There is no longer any function for the public of the Regional School system except to pay the bills.

Would anyone like to bet that, at the end of the 3-year period, a crisis will not arise that will apparently require further regionalization deep down into the grammar school?

Whatever happens, once a system is regionalized, we no longer require a school committee. All we need is a public relations team to keep taxpayers happy as they rubber stamp the school budget - a budget that is limited in no way and can even provide the buildings.

NARRAGANSETT LEAGUE CHAMPS

Old Rochester Bulldogs fueled up on desire and fought back in a second half to gain a tie with Seekonk on Saturday. The tie, 20-20, gave Old Rochester a 3-0-1 record and makes them the Narragansett League champions in their first season with this league.

The Bulldogs were rocked in the opening minutes of the game as the kickoff was returned 52 yards by Jim Souza. Four plays later Seekonk had scored from OR 38. Ed Emond took the ball in on a 21-yard run.

Danny Sullivan put OR back in the game as he drove in from the 7-yard line at the beginning of the 3rd quarter. Only 5 plays later Emond scored again for Seekonk and Mark Voorhees ran in for a 2-point conversion.

In the 4th quarter, a Seekonk pass from center sailed over the kicker's head. Bobby Zora recovered the ball on the 7 for OR. Gill scored but a 2-point pass conversion attempt failed and the score was 14 to 12.

Seekonk took the kickoff on the 10 and lost ground to the 3. Again a bad pass from center soared over Earle's head and out of the end zone, giving the Bulldogs a safety and a 14 to 14 tie.

Sullivan returned the free kick to the Seekonk 44 and OR moved on the ground to the 11. Tuttle powered his way forward and was hit hard at the goal line. The ball popped forward and DeCosta fell on it in the end zone. The 2-point conversion failed again and it was 20 to 14. Seekonk took to the air. A 50-yard pass from Duffell to Harding moved the Warriors to OR's 25. Zora then intercepted on the 11 with time running out. On the very next play, a fumble gave Seekonk the ball on the 11 and they scored to make the score 20 to 20.

A 2-point conversion try failed.

Seekonk tried an onside kick. DeCosta received and carried to OR's 43. The OR quarterback Reilly took to the air. A pass intended for Gill was picked off by Seekonk's Voorhees who returned it to the 44. The clock ran out as Duffell was attempting to pass his team to a score.

The game proved to be a thriller after OR revived from a sluggish first half. Tuttle, Gill and Sullivan were the offensive punch and Heath, DeCosta, Zora, Wainio and Roderick were defensive standouts for the Bulldogs.

Reilly, who took over last week as quarterback, called a good game. He attempted 15 passes, completed 2. Gill's kicking was exceptional as usual.

Duffell was outstanding for Seekonk. He attempted 17 passes and completed 7. His receivers, Harding and Garceau, sparked the Warriers as did the running of Emond and Voorhees.

Old Rochester hosts the Barnstable Raiders this Saturday in a non-league game.

Freshman Team Banquet

BANQUET FOR FRESHMAN TEAM

The Boosters Club is proud to announce that this year for the first time in the history of Old Rochester Regional High School, there will be a separate banquet for the Freshman Football Team. Because of the very large number of seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys that turned out for the team and the wonderful job these boys have done, the club felt they deserved a night all their own.

The banquet will be held November 23rd in the high school cafeteria. A spaghetti dinner will be prepared by members of the Boosters Club and served by the varsity team. Master of ceremonies will be Mr. James Lanagan, coach at Coyle High School. Guest of honor will be Mr. Frank Almeida, athletic director and head football coach at Old Rochester.

Ticket chairman for this event is Mrs.

OPEN LETTER TO MR. FRANK P. GIFUNE, JR. PRINCIPAL, OLD ROCHESTER REGIONAL

Dear Mr. Gifune:

As a faculty seriously concerned with the future course of education at Old Rochester Regional High School, we wish to state publicly our opposition to any proposal that would place the students of Old Rochester on either extended or split sessions in September 1969. Such a move we feel to be pedagogically unsound for reasons almost too numerous to mention but immediately apparent to anyone engaged in the profession of educating as we are.

Because extended sessions are being given serious consideration in some quarters as a solution to the serious overcrowding at the high school, we feel duty bound to voice our strong objection.

While extended sessions would eliminate the need for a new building now, it is our considered opinion that such a move would not only be postponing the inevitable but would also result in higher planning and construction costs later. And while it is conceivable that we could still continue to offer what we are now offering academically, there would be little or no opportunity to effect a number of changes that have been proposed to better the good job we feel we are now doing. Then, too, extended or split sessions might very well jeopardize our accreditation by making it impossible for us to implement certain recommendations made several years ago by the accrediting agency.

The only real advantage to extended or split sessions, we feel, would be to allow for a careful determination of what our real building needs are in light of the kind of education we want for our young people. It is our fervent hope, however, that those charged with the responsibility of charting the course of education in the three towns will take positive action toward the solution of the overcrowding problem without resorting to extended or double sessions as any permanent or prolonged answer.

Certainly the disadvantages of such sessions far outweigh the advantages. The students would be the ones to suffer most. As professionals we are sure we could manage, but could our young people? Their morale has never been higher. The same may be said of the faculty's. But creating double or extended sessions would be divisive at a most critical stage of the school's development, setting up two distinct student bodies, requiring two separate faculties, and instituting, in fact, a factory-like atmosphere. And for how long?

Students, particularly those living in the far reaches of the three towns, would either be getting up in the dark or going home in the dark for a good part of the school year. Extracurricular and athletic programs would of necessity be curtailed, principally for youngsters in grades 7 and 8. There would be little or no opportunity for those students attending the second session to get extra help. We honestly ask whether any student should be denied full educational opportunity?

We know of no place where extended or double sessions have proved anything but educationally debilitating. And the very real danger lies in prolonging double sessions once they are begun. We feel they prove far more costly in the long run, not in terms of the extra dollars wasted, but for the damage they work on the educational

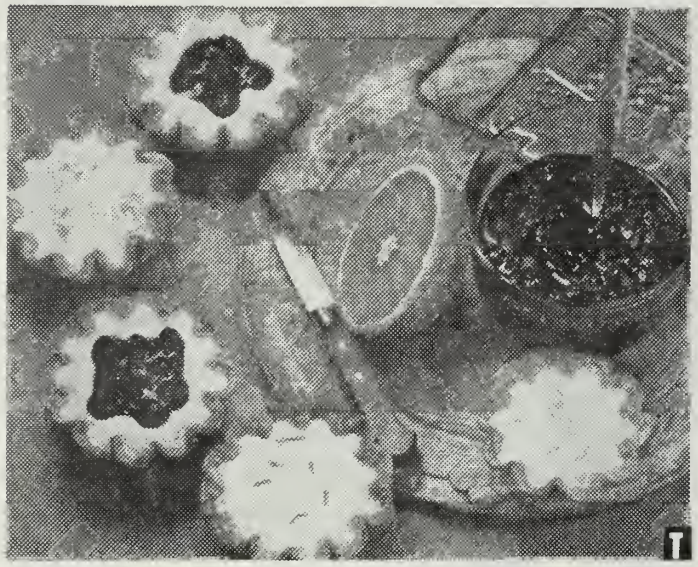
SMART TARTS



Easy as pie, and even prettier, are these Cranberry-Topped Custard Tarts. Heated whole berry cranberry sauce tops orange-flavored custard for a dessert that's very special—and it's quick to make, too, since it's based on a package of Jell-O Golden Egg Custard Mix. The versatile mix can be turned into a variety of family and company desserts, many of which can be found in a new 12-page booklet that's available free. Just send your name and address (including ZIP code) to "Bright Ways with Custard," Box 1048, Kankakee, Illinois 60901.

Cranberry-Topped Custard Tarts

1 package (3 oz.) egg custard mix
2 cups milk
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
6 to 8 baked 3-inch tart shells, cooled
Heated whole berry cranberry sauce

Blend custard mix with milk in saucepan. Add egg yolk. Bring quickly to a boil, stirring constantly. (Mixture will be thin.) Remove from heat and stir in orange rind. Cool 15 minutes, stirring often. Pour into tart shells. Cool 2 hours or chill 2 hours until set. Serve with heated whole berry cranberry sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

At best, such sessions should be effected only as a court of last resort, something to be used only temporarily while definitive plans are being formulated for a building program or while construction of additional school plant is going on.

Please be advised that this statement of opposition to extended or split sessions is the result of a unanimous vote of the faculty taken October 28, 1968.

HELP NEEDED

The Mattapoisett Sports Committee urgently needs the help and assistance of a few able-bodied fathers for the next several weekends.

The Committee is attempting to prepare the NEW Little League baseball diamond (Old Hammondtown School) for play next year and has several loads of stone dust to spread on the infield base paths before cold weather sets in.

If you can spare several hours of your time on Saturday or Sunday over the next several weekends, please call Carl Nelson, 758-2642, for further details.

Relive The Ball!

AFTER THE COSTUME BALL

After the Ball is over, after the dancers leave, many a costume is stored, many a memory lingers on.

You are all cordially invited to refresh those memories in the Mattapoisett Historical Museum, Friday evening, November 15. The roving photographers at the Costume Ball in the Carriage House made a marvelous pictorial record of the festivities. And now they would like to share these pictures with you. There will be two shows; the first at 7:30 P.M. and a repeat performance at 9 o'clock.

The hosts for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Jenney and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Roza. Perhaps you have slides or pictures taken at the Ball that you would like to share. If so, please call Mr. Jenney or Mr. Roza so they can arrange the show.

FOOTNOTE TO MEMORIAL

Mattapoisett Historical Society

It has been determined that a special area is to be set apart at the Mattapoisett Historical Museum or the adjacent Carriage House addition, for display of exhibits given in tribute to the late Minerva M. Sparrow. This feature of the Memorial has no closing date, as did the financial donations. Either the curator, Mr. Charles S. Mendell, during the summer months, or his assistant, Miss Dorothy Fox, available throughout the year, may be contacted by the donors at any future time.

The interior lamps for the lantern frames for the Carriage House of the Museum are reported to have just arrived, according to the fund chairman, Miss Lydia LeB. Walker, who describes them as having an amethyst glass base, brass chimney holder and frosted glass chimneys, in a most attractive effect.

SUPPORTERS FOR SKI CLUB

Parents and Friends of Old Rochester Regional High School interested in supporting the Old Rochester Ski Club are invited to attend a meeting in the cafeteria, Old Rochester Regional High School, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening on Wednesday, November 13. The Old Rochester Ski Club was authorized by the Old Rochester Regional District School Committee last year and enjoyed a brief, but successful season. Seventy-five enthusiastic students have enrolled in the club this year. The club was a success last year because of the enthusiastic and continuing parental support; such a large undertaking can succeed only if parents, students and teachers truly want to become involved and to make it succeed. All of the parents and students who participated last year found the activity and the company to be congenial. Join if you are interested and can help.
